NEW BOOKS

The Bill Martin Jr. Big Book of Poetry
Edited by Bill Martin, Jr.

PUBLISHER: Simon and Schuster, 2008 Call #: JF M

Edited by noted children’s author, Bill Martin Jr., this anthology collects some old and new poems to share with children. The poems are grouped by theme.

Bring Me Some Apples and I’ll Make You a Pie
By Robbin Gourley

PUBLISHER: Clarion, 2009 Call #: JF G

A young African-American girl grows up to be a famous chef, and her true story is told here. The book also includes five recipes that readers can make.

Drive
By Nathan Clement

Publisher: Front Street, 2008 Call #: JF C

A little boy shares about the truck driving job that his father has. Children get to see the big rig that the father drives.

One Boy
By Laura Vaccaro Seeger

Publisher: Roaring Brook Press, 2008 Call #: JF S

In this counting book, a little boy makes paintings of ten different objects. Well-placed die-cuts help tell the little boy’s story.
The Little Yellow Leaf
By Carin Berger

Publisher: Greenwillow, 2008 Call #: JF B

Uncertain of what lies ahead when autumn comes, a little yellow leaf doesn’t want to let go of the tree branch on which it lives. Then, the little leaf finds a red leaf on the tree too, and they both release together.

Tillie Lays an Egg
By Terry Golson

Publisher: Scholastic, 2009 Call #: JF G

Featuring real photographs of Tillie the chicken, this is the story of a chicken in search of the perfect place to lay her egg.