The bright, yellow buses, the 6am alarms, and the lunch packing brigades have returned, which must mean that school is back in session. The children in your care may have anxieties about going to school, or they may be curious about what their older siblings do all day at school. Whatever the case may be, here are a mix of titles, some humorous and some more serious, that you can share with children. All of these titles are available in the Sullivan University library too, so be sure to ask one of the librarians if you need help finding a book or anything else.
