Modern Dorm Facility
Spencerian Resident Students
To Live in University Dormitory

by Sandy Meyer

Beginning in September, Spencerian students will be able to stay in one of Kentucky's most modern dormitories. The University of Louisville and Spencerian College have signed an agreement which will allow Spencerian women students to rent dormitory space on the University Campus.

Making this arrangement even greater for Spencerian girls is the Spencerian shuttle bus which each day will bring students to Spencerian from the U of L campus and return them at 2:30 p.m.

The U of L dormitory, which will house Spencerian girls, is a two year old, eleven story, modern facility at First and Avery Streets on the U of L campus. The dormitory has a beautiful lounge on the first floor for visitors and a color television center to watch your favorite show. Cont'd. on P. 8 - See Dorm

Spencerian College Forms Pi Beta Lambda Chapter

by Barbara Chowning

Spencerian College will become the first business college in the state of Kentucky to have a chapter of Phi Beta Lambda. Through this organization the students of Spencerian will have the chance to obtain greater insight and appreciation for the world of business.

PBL is a post secondary organization of FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) and its primary purpose is to make students develop a greater awareness of business and office occupations.

The sponsors, Mrs. Carolyn Edwards and Mr. Harold Stice, are working their hardest to get the ball rolling so that the students at Spencerian will be able to participate in this local chapter of PBL. To help get the club started, eighteen students are selected by the faculty to organize and plan projects for the club. Afterwards, any student having a "C" average or better may join.
