Student of the Week Award Initiated

A new student award was recently initiated at Sullivan College with the "Student of the Week" program. Students are nominated by members of the faculty, with one nominee selected from among the honored group. As Student of the Week, the recipient is given use of one of the much-coveted parking spaces at the main entrance of the college. Additionally, the special student receives a certificate and commendations in the weekly newsletter, News You Can Use. All nominees also are recognized on the bulletin board.

The Student of the Week awards program was started at the suggestion of a student. The suggestion was placed in the Guaranteed Response Suggestion Box. The idea for this award was reviewed by the college administration, and then implemented.

According to Penny Logan, administrative assistant, "The Student of the Week program benefits everyone. Sullivan College benefits because students are working harder in classes to be nominated. And, the students benefit since their hard work improves their chances of a good job upon graduation."

In addition, it sure does not hurt to have a parking place at the front door.

Congratulations to our Student of the Week winners!
