Homecoming 1996

Homecoming activities provided a chance for everyone at Sullivan College to get into the spirit of fun during the week leading up to the homecoming game and dance.

Monday of homecoming week was Favorite Team Day. Students wore their favorite team jersey or other item clothing. Crazy Dress Day gave students a chance to mix and unmatch all their favorite items of clothing. Prizes were awarded to the top three participants.

Wednesday is usually professional dress at the College, but during homecoming week members of Phi Beta Lambda sponsored a Pay to Dress Down Day. For a nominal cost of only 50¢, students were able to pay to dress down, while helping PBL’s fund raising efforts for their trip to the state conference.

A pep rally and Battle of the Sexes were the highlights of Thursday. Faculty, staff and students were encouraged to dress in green, white and blue to show their support for the Lady Executives. The gender with the most people dressed in the College’s colors was declared the winner of the Battle of the Sexes contest.

The Homecoming Game, crowning of the Homecoming Queen and the Homecoming Dance were held on Saturday.

Charmaine Burton was elected 1996 Homecoming Queen. First runner-up was Eva Ralvik and Second runner-up honors went to Ellen Manning.
