My name is Amy Ragland and it is an honor and a privilege to share my Sullivan success story with you.

Sullivan was her best choice

I had seen advertisements about Sullivan University on television and thought it looked to be a tremendous school. One day after work I came to the conclusion that if I didn’t like my circumstances only day after day I came to the conclusion it looked to be a tremendous school. One

Sullivan success story with you.

In the fall of 2005 I began Sullivan in September, 2005 my needs. This is exactly what I have received was rudeness and unwillingness homework regarding different schools that if I didn’t like my circumstances only day after work I came to the conclusion it looked to be a tremendous school. One

Sullivan success story with you.

Tina still enjoys being active at Sullivan University as an alum. In the past, she has

in Boston and New York City

by Shalana Johnson, Tourism & Event Management student

The ride on the Acela was great. It was pretty eye-opening to be on a train that made it from Boston, Massachusetts to New York City in about 3 hours. I also had an office at Amtrak.

We arrived in the city in time to get glitzed, and glammed for Broadway! Dinner that night was at John’s Pizza; an upscale pizza parlor with two levels, elegant stairs, and chandeliers. The pizza was very good, a great place to relax before the show. We were privileged to see Mamma Mia! It was fantastic. Everyone, including the guys, enjoyed the show. Some were even singing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find some of New York’s authentic smaller clubs and hotspots. We split into small groups and chose a designated spot in which to meet a few hours later. Good plan and good advice for future clients, friends, family, and personal trips.

The next morning we were ready to get to know the Times Square areas of New York.

Attending Sullivan University allowed Tina to develop these same thoughts and meet people who live in the area. The food was excellent: Harvard Square. It was a great place to enjoy the show and some were even laughing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find

Put your thinking cap on and be ready to answer some tough questions! Sullivan University is known for its challenging academic programs and preparation for the global marketplace. As an alum, Tina can “remote in” to almost all of her customers, meaning she can do it all in the comfort of her own home.

Sullivan students have a blast in Boston and New York City

Sullivan University is known for its challenging academic programs and preparation for the global marketplace. As an alum, Tina can “remote in” to almost all of her customers, meaning she can do it all in the comfort of her own home.

Dreams do come true at Sullivan U!

My name is Amy Ragland and it is an honor and a privilege to share my Sullivan success story with you.

Sullivan was her best choice

I had seen advertisements about Sullivan University on television and thought it looked to be a tremendous school. One day after work I came to the conclusion that if I didn’t like my circumstances only day after day I came to the conclusion it looked to be a tremendous school. One

Sullivan success story with you.

In the fall of 2005 I began Sullivan in September, 2005 my needs. This is exactly what I have received was rudeness and unwillingness homework regarding different schools that if I didn’t like my circumstances only day after work I came to the conclusion it looked to be a tremendous school. One

Sullivan success story with you.

Tina still enjoys being active at Sullivan University as an alum. In the past, she has

in Boston and New York City

by Shalana Johnson, Tourism & Event Management student

The ride on the Acela was great. It was pretty eye-opening to be on a train that made it from Boston, Massachusetts to New York City in about 3 hours. I also had an office at Amtrak.

We arrived in the city in time to get glitzed, and glammed for Broadway! Dinner that night was at John’s Pizza; an upscale pizza parlor with two levels, elegant stairs, and chandeliers. The pizza was very good, a great place to relax before the show. We were privileged to see Mamma Mia! It was fantastic. Everyone, including the guys, enjoyed the show. Some were even singing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find some of New York’s authentic smaller clubs and hotspots. We split into small groups and chose a designated spot in which to meet a few hours later. Good plan and good advice for future clients, friends, family, and personal trips.

The next morning we were ready to get to know the Times Square areas of New York.

Attending Sullivan University allowed Tina to develop these same thoughts and meet people who live in the area. The food was excellent: Harvard Square. It was a great place to enjoy the show and some were even laughing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find

Some of Sullivan’s success stories

Tina Williams

Tina Williams, a graduate of the IT program, is very proud of this achievement. Her award-winning business, TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Year goes to ... TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Tina Williams, a graduate of the IT program, is very proud of this achievement. Her award-winning business, TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Year goes to ... TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Tina Williams, a graduate of the IT program, is very proud of this achievement. Her award-winning business, TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Year goes to ... TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Tina Williams, a graduate of the IT program, is very proud of this achievement. Her award-winning business, TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Year goes to ... TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Tina Williams, a graduate of the IT program, is very proud of this achievement. Her award-winning business, TCG America! Sullivan University’s very own

Real food for thought

Students were able to practice their fine dining etiquette learned in their Introduction to Hospitality Management course during a dinner at a downtown Louisville restaurant.

Carmen Kennedy, Tracey Guarnieri, Lesley Whitworth, Ann Day, Lindsey Alvarez, Shalana Johnson, and Ava Adama, pictured above, were among those who enjoyed the event.

Tina still enjoys being active at Sullivan University as an alum. In the past, she has

in Boston and New York City

by Shalana Johnson, Tourism & Event Management student

The ride on the Acela was great. It was pretty eye-opening to be on a train that made it from Boston, Massachusetts to New York City in about 3 hours. I also had an office at Amtrak.

We arrived in the city in time to get glitzed, and glammed for Broadway! Dinner that night was at John’s Pizza; an upscale pizza parlor with two levels, elegant stairs, and chandeliers. The pizza was very good, a great place to relax before the show. We were privileged to see Mamma Mia! It was fantastic. Everyone, including the guys, enjoyed the show. Some were even singing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find some of New York’s authentic smaller clubs and hotspots. We split into small groups and chose a designated spot in which to meet a few hours later. Good plan and good advice for future clients, friends, family, and personal trips.

The next morning we were ready to get to know the Times Square areas of New York.

Attending Sullivan University allowed Tina to develop these same thoughts and meet people who live in the area. The food was excellent: Harvard Square. It was a great place to enjoy the show and some were even laughing along with the performers at the end. After an evening of pizza and Broadway, it was time to get to know the Times Square tourism sectors and find some of New York’s authentic smaller clubs and hotspots. We split into small groups and chose a designated spot in which to meet a few hours later. Good plan and good advice for future clients, friends, family, and personal trips.

The next morning we were ready for the next day of sightseeing. The tour of New York City was fantastic. We learned tons of history, geography, and of course there was some celebrity real estate watching. After the tour, I went to a street fair that was two blocks from the hotel. It was amazing to see thousands of people of the street dancing, eating, and buying goods from the vendors. Everyone was having such a good time that it was just contagious. This event is one of the large scale social events that I dream of putting on in my event planning career. Everything was perfect, at least as far as my in-training eye could see, and it was very successful. I am hoping I will have the opportunity to work on smaller scale events that lead me to successfully planning an event of this magnitude in the future.

The last night in New York was spent around Soho, the Village, and Upper West Side Manhattan. It was awesome to experience these distinctly different areas of New York.

The trip to Boston and New York was an overall great experience. The tour guides were extremely knowledgeable and able to answer all our questions. The modes of transportation were interesting because we used so many different types. The best part was the great variety of things there were to do in each city. This trip was an extraordinary experience that I am going to make sure was not “once in a lifetime.”