Sullivan’s 4th Annual Culinary Camp was a blast!

Under the close supervision of Sullivan Chef Instructors, 61 high school juniors and seniors from seven different states attended Sullivan’s 4th Annual Culinary Camp. The campers spent a fun-filled and educational week on the Louisville campus getting a taste of the National Center for Hospitality Studies (NCHS). Campers were exposed to both culinary arts and baking and pastry arts in preparation for the last camp day when they prepared a meal for more than 200 family and friends to celebrate what they had learned. In addition to cooking in the labs and pertinent lectures, students participated in a variety of evening activities including a dinner at local restaurants, trip to Churchill Downs, a wonderful Luau and of course the favorite team hang-out, the Malt! Right, Karl Bowman from Smithville, Tennessee proudly displays her knife kit and camp binder. All campers also received proper headgear and 2010 Culinary Camp chef coat embroidered with their name and hometown. Keri will soon have a new coat to wear; she’s enrolled in Sullivan’s Culinary Arts program and will start this Fall.

Sullivan University guarantees that when you start school in a certificate, diploma, associate, or bachelor’s degree, and with continuous attendance, taking at least one course, on campus or online, each quarter (4 times a year) your tuition will not increase through completion of your bachelor’s degree.

Sullivan University is the ONLY four year college or university in Kentucky offering this guarantee.

“Working the Olympics, with others in the industry from around the world with diverse backgrounds and work histories, and one part, in a Harry Potter and rewarding experience. Every person that has had the opportunity to work a part of a team, to provide top quality product in a high volume atmosphere with pressing deadlines, is one of the great learning experiences to a student whose career lies ahead in the foodservice field.”
